2

Research alternative recreational options available through nonprofits or community-based programs in your area that might be free or less expensive.

Become a volunteer coach with your child's team or club. Not only is this a good way to get involved, but sometimes this can help off-set the cost of registration.

4

Sell and/or buy used equipment at second-hand sporting goods stores.

Apply for financial assistance through your child's school that may help offset the cost of equipment.
